"Deja Vu"

I am a multi-disciplinary artist interested in epigenetics, architecture, and visual storytelling. My work depicts the interconnectedness of human physiology and how trauma causes the brain to disorganize neural circuits. My work serves to educate and empower healing the body and mind with nutrients rather than drugs. Through transforming research into drawing, I aim to connect and communicate strength, hope and optimism, while showing us how fallibly human we are.

"Meraki"

My painting journey began one winter's night when my boredom got the best of me. I was raising three small children, and my nights were full of sitcoms and mopping the kitchen floor. I often joke and say it was my calling. Out of nowhere, I had the desire to paint. I remember as a child I would often draw, compete in sidewalk chalk competitions, and I eventually got into graphic design.

For as long as I remember I had always wanted to be an artist. Little did I know that desire would take me down the most incredible, life changing experience.

Frank Calidonna

"Death is the Mother of Beauty"

I have been interested in photography since receiving my first camera as a kid in 1947. This became a passion when I started college (BA – LaSalle College, MS- SUNY Cortland – extensive graduate work in media and TV production at U Mass and U Tennessee). I went from being a serious amateur to running two photographic businesses. Calidonna Photography ran for about twenty years, specializing in wedding and portrait photography. Diversified Photographic Services followed this, which was mainly architectural photography and studio still life. I closed this in 1992 and went back to being a happy amateur.

Arts Cafe Series
Dove Creek

October 5 @ 7PM

On October 5, the Arts Cafe welcomes Dove Creek, with original member Putter Cox joining Reyna Stagnaro for a special night of music. Reyna and Putter formed Dove Creek in 2008 and developed their signature blend of eclectic Americana, warm, honest, and heartfelt, with a unique mix of mandolin, guitar, distinctive vocals and solid harmonies. Their repertoire includes originals, covers, and instrumentals. Putter left Hamilton two years ago and resides in Virginia. Reyna continues the duo with guitarist, Ed Vollmer, and this performance will be a nostalgic nod to the old favorites that created and defined Dove Creek, with some new songs, too! Please join us for this singular event!

Polymer Clay Lentil Swirl Bead Workshop

With Dana Shiflett

October 6, 1-3PM

Polymer clay is an entertaining and addictive medium for making pretty much anything you can think of, and making lentil swirl beads is just about the most fun you can have playing with this stuff. The concept is very easy to learn, and the results are unexpectedly beautiful.

The cost of this class is $30, which includes instruction and all supplies necessary to make a variety of beads and a necklaces. The class is intended as a fundraiser, with the entire fee benefiting the programs and services of the Earlvile Opera House.

Call (315) 691-3550 to register!

Williams Road Band

& Company

October 6 @ 6PM

Meet & greet artist reception beginning at 4pm!
Included in ticket price!!!!

Bueno Tacos truck on site!!!

Williams Road is a three piece roots band from the rolling hills of central New York. Their sound is a little bit of Bakersfield country with a mix of Americana. The band's unique songwriting represents life in the rural setting they call home. Pushed by strong harmonies and acoustic guitars at it's core, add violin, electric guitar, and the pedal steel, and there is William Road. The groups influences are artists, Lyle Lovett, Tom Waits, Steve Earl, and some of the good old boys of country long gone.

Special guests: Denny McCormick, Nashville singer and song writer, Nina's Brew, and Mason McDowell

Fundraiser

Jim Paradis and Special Guests

October 13 @ 7PM

Just two weeks after he picked up his first guitar, Jim Paradis joined a blues band. He was thirteen years old. But this unique singer/songwriter soon widened his musical horizons by becoming a member of an original progressive rock band, then a touring Rock and Roll band. Jim also enjoyed playing bass and singing in Gary Burr's band, showcasing Gary's original songs, including "Love's Been a Little Bit Hard on Me," which launched Gary's Hall of Fame songwriting career.

Arts Café Series
Whispering Tree
October 19 @ 7PM

The moniker The Whispering Tree is rife with imagery and symbolism. One interpretation is that the subtle call of natural forces, like listening to the noises trees make as wind passes through their branches, may mystically reveal answers or profound truths. It's a "call of the wild" ideal, but for the Franco-American folk-rock duo, the concept of The Whispering Tree spoke to them during a period of aimlessness.

At the time, after heaps of critical acclaim and well-received international tours, the pair found itself in a creative and spiritual lull. However, listening to the music from within enabled the duo to find direction out from the forest of depression and listlessness. Now, The Whispering Tree returns with a milestone album, Invisible Forces, out August 2018, their second album in 11 years and first release in 5 years.

ANNUAL HAUNTED OPERA HOUSE

SATURDAY OCTOBER 27
7PM-9PM

Subdudes

November 2 @ 7PM

Over the course of 25 years and ten albums, the Subdudes have quietly become one of America's national music treasures.

Formed in New Orleans, this group is a living encapsulation of American music, a vibrant cauldron of sounds that stirs together meaty grooves and jazzy dynamics, soulful R&B swagger, easy vocal harmonies, cheeky rock 'n' roll attitude, and folkly social consciousness — not to mention some of the
